Please publish this in your People's Column as I believe it presents the real facts in this campaign so clearly that one cannot be deceived:

ROBINSON GOES WET

A startling about-face has been made by Senator Robinson. This stalwart dry has boldly leaped around and embraced the first half, the beginning half, of his running-mate's anti-prohibition program.

To be sure, he is technically still a prohibitionist. He would merely change the Volstead act to "give a scientific definition of what is an intoxicating beverage," so that anti-prohibition states, "would be permitted to have very light wines and beer." There is no tolerance of intoxicating beverages in this. By no means.

But Southern dry Democrats, loyal to their ticket, may well feel a disheartening foreboding. For Governor Smith's proposed amendment to the Volstead act is the entering wedge for his entire wet program. Once given that, and he will have won half the battle.

Probably Senator Robinson's flop is directly due to advice from Governor Smith. We shall now see Smith galloping back to the east with Robinson's scalp hanging at his belt. He has conquered a leading Democratic dry. In his final, climatic drive in the east, in which he will dominantly emphasize prohibition, he will use the Robinson about-face as evidence that he can convert Democrats in congress to his view.

Southern Democrats might as well see clearly what is coming. Those who are less than hot toward prohibition may consistently vote the Democratic ticket. But those who believe that prohibition is the paramount question in the country today ought to realize the hollowness of the assertion that "there is nothing Smith can do" about prohibition.

It is our guess that the country as a whole does not regard prohibition as the dominant issue. But those who do so regard it ought to understand that the fate of prohibition is now in the balance. The people apparently are about evenly divided on the subject. The election of Smith would be regarded as an anti-prohibition mandate.

Smith, as he stated in his Milwaukee speech, would go into every community, as president of the United States, to argue against prohibition. The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment would aid him by spending millions for anti-prohibition propaganda. Money would come from John J. Raskob, Pierre Du Pont, William H. Woodin, E. S. Harkness, Arthur Curtiss James, Spencer Penrose, and Haley Fiske.

General Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Republican national committee man from Pennsylvania, and in that capacity is loyally supporting the Republican ticket; but he is also a director of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, and if Smith were elected he would have Atterbury's financial support in his anti-prohibition campaign.

Smith would then not have to rely solely on the dry Democrats, such as Robinson, whom he might convert. He would lead wet Democrats and wet Republicans. Drys in congress would switch to the wet side if sentiment among their constituents changed. Within a few years there would probably be a wet majority in congress.

The power of the president in such a matter should not be underestimated. Southern Democrats who regard prohibition as the paramount issue ought to see clearly that Hoover, as president, would mean four and probably eight years of continuing prohibition, and this might easily mean making prohibition permanent; whereas the election of Smith would be the beginning of the end. No man ought to deceive himself as to the effect of his vote.

McDonald Takes the Air Today for England

YOUTH TRIES FLIGHT IN MOTH TYPE PLANE OF LIGHT WEIGHT

Commander H. C. McDonald, British Aviator, Takes Off From Harbor Grace; Flier Is Only 28 Years of Age; Plane Is Only a Midget in Comparison with Lindbergh's Plane

(By Associated Press)

SAINT JOHN'S, Newfoundland, Oct. 17.—Commander H. C. MacDonald, English aviator, took off from Harbor Grace today in a moth type airplane in an attempt to fly the Atlantic to England. MacDonald, who is 28 years old, came to Newfoundland three weeks ago to prepare for the flight. The plane, but a midget as compared to Lindbergh's Spirit of St. Louis, has a wing spread of only 26 feet and when empty weighs less than 800 pounds. Extra fuel tanks were fitted to the plane, giving it a range of about 35 hours, sufficient for a 3,600 mile cruise.

Christianity Is Power Says Rev. W. W. Daup

An address upon the life and character of Charlie Moore, who was his Sunday School teacher many years ago in Omaha, Neb., was the theme discussed by Rev. William Wesley Daup, rector of the local Episcopal church, at the Methodist brotherhood last night. Mr. Moore, who has now gone to his reward, was not a man of letters or of great advantages, but he had made a greater impression upon him than any other man with whom he ever associated because he was fully possessed of Christianity, which the speaker defined as meaning "power." Irrespective of a Christian man's education, he will have the power to influence and lead the lives of others, he stated. Rev. Mr. Daup's address was given the closest attention, and each one present congratulated him for his splendid speech at the close of the brotherhood.

The speaker was introduced by C. M. Bethany, who said he had known and admired Rev. Daup for 18 years.

Despite a cloudburst that came down at meeting time there was a large crowd present considering the circumstances.

Several cornet duets were played by Buster Starnes and M. G. Black, students of Allen Academy. They were especially applauded for their playing of "The End of a Perfect Day." They were accompanied by Mrs. Sarah Goodman.

President William Gibbs appointed the following committees for next month: Program, C. R. Gardner and W. E. Neely; tickets, Ty Cobb, Julius Christian, R. C. Franks, C. M. Bethany and Clarence Curlee; seats, R. M. Dansby, W. W. Solomon, and M. M. Erskine.

The following were present: T. A. Adams, W. S. Howell, C. R. Gardner, W. K. Gibbs, R. S. Marshall, G. S. Crenshaw, M. G. Black, Buster Starnes, W. W. Solomon, C. A. Lewis, W. B. Cline, Ross Dean, A. B. Syttak, J. T. Thatcher, Ray Gardner Jr., Lamar Bethea, R. C. Franks, J. W. Longley, R. M. Dansby, W. E. Neely, W. Kenneth Osborn, John Patronella, M. E. McCartney, J. W. Black, W. H. Lawrence, C. M. Bethany, W. W. Daup and Ty Cobb.

Oldest Resident of Valley Dead

BROWNSVILLE, Oct. 17.—Funeral services for Eutonio Flores, 102, believed to be the oldest resident of the lower border section, were held at Immaculate Conception Church here. Born near Linares, in Nuevo Leon, the man had a vivid recollection of the war between Mexico and the United States. He fought under Benito Juarez against the troops of Maximilian, and participated in the battle of Puebla, which marked the end of the empire.

He came to the valley soon after the war was over, and for the past 20 years was connected with Col. Sam Robinson, who built the St. L. B. and M. railroad into the valley most of his work with the colonel being a watchman on various jobs.

ARMSTRONG'S PANACEA FOR COURTS GIVEN

M. M. ERSKINE LEADS DISCUSSION IN FUTURE PROGRAMS AT LIONS' MEETING

An excellent classification speech by R. V. Armstrong in which he urged the adoption of judicial arbitration commissions to alleviate crowded dockets in the higher courts, and further discussion of the 10-year program for the Lions Club led by M. M. Erskine were the feature of Tuesday's meeting of the club.

M. F. Vitopil, affectionately called "Uncle Mat," was presented with a bottle of hair tonic. The speech of presentation was made by Ty Cobb, who said the gift was being made before it was "too late."

E. R. Bryant, chairman of the ladies' night program to be held next Tuesday night, made a report, promising a most excellent program.

President Henry Locke appointed an attendance committee for ladies' night, as follows: A. S. Ware, chairman; M. F. Vitopil, and Harry S. Edge.

Continuing the 10-year program discussion from last time, the club adopted measures looking toward the support of the public school program, parks and playgrounds, and in building concrete highways in Brazos county, north, east, west and any other directions that may be discovered within the next ten years. The club also adopted a program calling for a new municipal building with a fine auditorium.

Lion Armstrong began his speech by saying that the club was organized in 1923 and that since his name was near the first in the alphabet of the club's membership, he had been called upon for a classification speech every six months since that time. He said there are 14 higher courts that are giving out decisions every week, and 75 pages of higher court decisions are made weekly. As a means of alleviating the present congested conditions, he suggested the English system of arbitration commissions. After the war 15,000 claims had to be handled and they were disposed of this way. The speaker said several countries had adopted this plan and it had been successful in every instance.

The following were present: S. D. Snyder, A. S. Ware, M. Schulman, E. H. Young, Joe Kaplan, M. F. Vitopil, C. C. Redding, J. Coulter Smith, John M. Lawrence, R. V. Armstrong, Wilbur Chambers, F. D. Fuller, Dr. Lamar Jones, Bill Wimberly, W. E. Paulson, W. E. Leverkuhn, Harry L. Durham, C. L. Curlee, W. E. Neely, U. M. Brock, Harry S. Edge, E. R. Bryant, John E. Blair, Arrath, R. Clifton Franks, John Miniatas, M. M. Erskine, J. M. Ferguson, Tom G. Suber, Fred Hale, Henry Locke, J. Bryan Miller, W. S. Howell, Mrs. Roy Danforth, and Ty Cobb.

Les Akers Says Herbert Hoover

Five Reasons Given by Wize Akers

Will Help Farmers Stay in Rut

Yes sir, I have just got a letter from my Cousin, Wize Akers, who lives out in West Texas and who has been over the world a lot and has had a chance to keep up with politics and ever thing of the sort, because he's got a good College education and used to be a school teacher before he bought his big West Texas farm. I wrote him awhile back and told him I was all up in the air and undesided about the President race between Mr. Hoover and Mr. Smith and asked him for his views about the matter because of me always having in a lot of faith in him, so here is the letter from Wize which I am enclosing:

"Dear Les: Your letter of recent date has been received and I was delighted to hear from you and to know that Minnie and Little Les are enjoying good health."

"I was very much surprised to learn that you are unable to make up your mind on the race for President altho I realize that you are always conservative and rather slow to jump at conclusions. Replying to your inquiry will say that I am opposed to Mr. Hoover for the following reasons:

"1. Mr. Hoover in representing European governments forced farm products below cost of production during and after the World War, and this at a time, when, according to Mr. Hoover's own testimony, he had never voted in an American election in his life and his residence was in London, England, where he had lived for many years. The price of wheat was held up for a time by the efforts of farmers organizations and Pres. Wilson over the protest of Mr. Hoover as shown by the records, but prices finally broke resulting in bankruptcy for the American farmer."

"2. It is a known fact that Hoover was the main influence causing the veto and defeat of the McNary-Haugen bill for farm relief without offering one thing in its stead and is now sidestepping and straddling on the farm issue as he did after the war when on one occasion he told a labor union meeting during a speech that if it had not been for him taking charge of the farmers wheat it would have gone to $5.00 a bushel, and the laborer would have been forced to pay 30 cents a loaf for bread. In the same week he told a farm organization gathering that if he hadn't taken charge of their wheat it would have gone down to $1.50 per bushel and would have meant ruin for them. He is again trying to bait the farmers with the age worn doctrine of farm relief through the application of the tariff which in truth affords protection only to manufacturing and industry by protecting the finished product while at the same time keeping the raw materials, which are the farmers products, on the free list or unprotected market."

"3. His other plan for relief is to limit farm production to home or domestic demand or consumption which would most certainly result in absolute ruin to the South since the greater part of our cotton is not used or needed at home but is shipped to foreign markets hence this would mean 4 or 5 cent cotton for the Southern farmer."

"4. Cotton is now selling at from $15 to $25 per bale cheaper according to reliable authorities, than it should on account of manipulations, leaks, and unfair methods used in the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture during the past 2 years under a Republican administration."

RAIN TODAY BRINGS SLIGHT RELIEF TO HUNTERS OF WEST

Lower Temperatures Enter Texas Today From the Panhandle to the Gulf, With Temperatures in the Forties in Various Sections of the State; Blowing Rain Precedes Norther

(By Associated Press)

DENVER, Oct. 17.—Rising temperatures and rain today brought promise of relief from the mid-winter blizzard which has swept the Rocky Mountains for three days, claiming two lives and marooning seven persons on Pike's Peak and endangering hundreds of deer hunters scattered throughout the wild Colorado highlands.

DALLAS, Oct. 17.—The first cool weather of autumn was being experienced today by Texas. Lower temperatures, which entered the State yesterday at the Panhandle, prevailed to the Gulf Coast this morning. Temperatures in the forties were reported in sections of North and West Texas, while the thermometer at Port Arthur registered 69 degrees with a north breeze and blowing rain preceding the temperature drop in a number of sections.

Trial of Davis Is Set for Today

(By Associated Press) EASTLAND, Oct. 17.—The trial of Thomas Davis for the slaying of Lucian Shook near Lee Ray last month, was set for this afternoon in district court here. A special venire of 75 has been summoned. Although no motion had been filed, attorneys for Clyde Thompson, assessed the death penalty last night by a jury for the same slaying said they would ask for a new trial.

Election Case to Come Up in Court Thursday

The election contest case between Marshall C. Peters and Clyde Goen for the office of tax assessor of Brazos county will come up in district court Thursday morning. Goen defeated Peters by 17 votes for the office and the latter claims irregularities in several boxes that went heavily against him.

Peters will be represented by Judge J. G. Minkert, while Goen will be represented by Judge Lamar Bethea and Hon. W. S. Barron.

Democratic Speakers Will Be at Kurten

The Democratic speakers will be at Kurten tonight to talk in the interest of the candidacy of Governor Alfred E. Smith for the presidency, according to Senator Charles Gainer.

The speakers for tonight include Judge Joe T. Maloney, Judge J. G. Minkert and Hon. A. S. Ware. Elaborate preparations have been made and a large crowd is expected to attend the meeting. Speaking was scheduled to be held Tuesday night at Wellborn, but it had to be postponed on account of rain.

BUILDING FAST SLATON, Oct. 17.—Slaton's building record promises this year to total more than six former annual figures. Building permits to date approximate $275,000. Since 1922 the building record has averaged slightly more than $300,000 each year.

MEANEST THIEF BEAUMONT, Oct. 17.—Beaumont has ended a long quest for its "meanest thief." Mrs. W. V. Henderson, blind woman, who conducts a news and candy stand, reported to police that her stand had been broken open and her supply of candy stolen.

"The Democratic South has never received any favors at the hands of the Republican party even under the most favorable circumstances, much less than at a time like this when their candidate is unfriendly to the cause of agriculture."

"I trust I have made myself clear on this matter of vital concern to every farmer in the land and hope you will soon be able to make up your mind and that it will be on the side of the farmer."

"With best regards from the family to you and yours and trusting that I may hear from you again in the near future, I am

"Your Cousin,

"Wize Akers."

So it seems from this letter from Wize that the big question with him aint what Mr. Hoover has done for the farmer in the past but what he has done to him, and it seems from his letter and what I read in my paper that as far as him and the great majority of the other farmers in the country is concerned they are by Mr. Hoover like the little verse that says:

"Herbert and his little goat Went out to gather onions; Now, Herbert's full of bunions."

My nabor, Roe Tate, says he is going to vote for the Republican candidate because he just wants to see what else he has up his sleeve that will "help" the farmer (that is to "help" him stay in the rut) and just to show the rest of the world what a bunch of numbskulls us farmers is and to demonstrate how much more punishment we can stand.

Any way, I am thinkin it will be a lot of "relief" for us farmers to get the election off our minds, favor more plowin and less polin, Les Akers, of East Texas.

CANDIDACY OF SMITH GIVEN GOOD HEARING

BRYAN SPEAKERS TELL OF NOMINEE TO LARGE AUDIENCE AT STEEP HOLLOW

Hon. W. S. Barron, candidate for speaker of the House, former County Attorney J. G. Minkert, and Ty Cobb addressed a large audience at Steep Hollow Monday night in the interest of the candidacy of Governor Alfred E. Smith. Hon. M. E. Wallace, county chairman, presided and gave out literature at the close of the meeting.

The speakers delivered their addresses in a church, which was taxed to capacity. There were many women in the audience.

Mr. Barron, the first speaker, dealt largely with farm relief. He lauded the Farm Loan Bank plan and the Federal Reserve act, which are products of the democratic party. He said these measures alone saved the people of Brazos county, some of whom he stated were in the audience, $50,000 a year. He declared that the republican party was the party of big business, and pictured lobbying conditions at Austin and in Washington. "Everyone is represented except the farmer," he said. He then told how the republicans betrayed the cotton farmers last year, causing the price of cotton to drop five cents per pound.

The second speaker, Judge Minkert, declared that he was a prohibitionist, but that he had no fear that Governor Smith would be able to change the prohibition laws. He deplored the lack of enforcement of the Eighteenth amendment under the republican regime, and related how impossible it would be to repeal the prohibition measure in the constitution. He said that Herbert Hoover did not know whether he was wet or dry, but preferred wet as a politician. He also said that Hoover was 40 years of age before he cast a vote.

The closing speech was delivered by Ty Cobb, who charged the republicans with building up a capitalist, privileged and pampered class in the East and North by the protective tariff, and then shutting off the agencies of government relief to the cotton and grain farmers in the South and West. The practice of the republican party, he said, is to establish upon a pinnacle the eastern multi-millionaires and then breaking down the middle, farming, and laboring classes of the country who are the "bone and sinew of this nation."

"Those who live and labor by the sweat of their brow have made the United States the greatest nation in history; and it is this class the democrats would protect and the republicans would impoverish," he stated.

Mr. Wallace introduced each speaker with witty remarks that kept the crowd in good humor.

Club Boys Are Back From Fair

The club boys returning from the Dallas Fair last week report a wonderful time, the exhibits and attractions filling the youthful hearts with wonder and amazement.

These trips were won on the following records turned in: Frank Gowanay, corn, production showed 25 bushels and 46 pounds, or $17.51 above cost; Alphonse Habarta had livestock, total receipts showing $110.00, or $51.82 above cost; Raymond Moore had poultry for his club work, his total receipts showing $181.11, or $151.19 above cost; Leon Stevener had one acre in cotton, total production showed 1,400 pounds seed cotton, or $83.22 returns above cost; Robert Kindt had three acres in cotton which produced three bales averaging 530 pounds. Cotton, unsold, was valued at $254.40, less expenses of production, fertilizing, etc., of $53.25, showed returns of $201.15 above cost.

Robert's record in club work this year is outstanding, his production of cotton on hill land showing more than four times the average yield for Brazos county. But this is, perhaps, the least of Robert's returns from club work. He won a trip to the Short Course, a liberal education in itself, and now he comes back from the educational encampment at the Dallas Fair filled with enthusiasm for greater club achievements in the future, and duly appreciative to those who have helped kindle the fires of ambition in his young life.

DOCTORS TO MEET

Beaumont was selected as the next meeting place for the South Texas Medical Association at the last session in Houston.

An Unpleasant Subject

All of the functions of life are not pleasant to consider. Perhaps this is why some mothers refuse to think that such symptoms as restlessness, loss of flesh, lack of appetite or itching nose and fingers in their children, can be caused by round or pin worms. Many mothers have proven, however, that a few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge, that sure and harmless worm expellant, will make these symptoms disappear. You can get White's Cream Vermifuge for 35 cents per bottle from Nathan & Vick.

W. O. Alexander Speaker for Allen Y. M. C. A. Meet

The Allen Y. M. C. A. had its first program consisting entirely of talent on the Allen campus Sunday night, Oct. 14. The new officers served for the first time in their new duties, with P. W. Wheelis presiding.

The main feature of the program was an address by W. O. Alexander who took for his subject "Paying the Price." The talk was delivered in the usual forceful manner in which Alexander speaks at all times.

The musical side of the program consisted of a solo by Allan Cunningham and a duet by Clark and Kacy. As a novelty the waiters of the mess hall gave several selections of negro music which were well received by the student body.

The program for next Sunday night will consist of talent from the Bryan people, with Mrs. Lee J. Rountree as the principal speaker.

Treaty Stones Are Given to Museum

SAN SABA, Oct. 16.—A. C. Longley of Wallace Creek, San Saba County, has recently given to the state museum two of the seven treaty stones upon which the peace treaty between United States army officers, acting as agents, and the chiefs of several tribes including the Comanches, Apaches, Lipans, Ionacas, Wacos, Tonkawas and others, which was made in 1850, is recorded. These stones were left at the site of negotiations, a big spring, or group of springs, at the head of Wallace Creek. For many years after Indians had ceased to raid this country, the stones remained unmolested. Of recent years they have been removed by different individuals, and are considerably scattered.

San Saba County is rich in Indian and early day history. A field force from the department of anthropology, State University, has been recently encamped at Heck Springs near Cherokee, working out deposits there relating to Indian history in this country.

Bryan Votes for Her Own Talent

Letters by the scores, with enclosed "choice of men's and women's" voices heard over radio station KPC Friday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock, went out from Bryan today. With two of our own Bryan musicians taking part on the program of the addition, listeners in Bryan heard clearly the voices of Geo. Griffin and Miss Kathleen Cason and were proud of the manner in which they took part with other prize winners over this district. Reports from the official judges of the Houston audition are awaited with deep interest by the many friends of Mr. Griffin and Miss Cason in this city.

Mr. Wallace introduced each speaker with witty remarks that kept the crowd in good humor.

Club Boys Are Back From Fair

The club boys returning from the Dallas Fair last week report a wonderful time, the exhibits and attractions filling the youthful hearts with wonder and amazement.

These trips were won on the following records turned in: Frank Gowanay, corn, production showed 25 bushels and 46 pounds, or $17.51 above cost; Alphonse Habarta had livestock, total receipts showing $110.00, or $51.82 above cost; Raymond Moore had poultry for his club work, his total receipts showing $181.11, or $151.19 above cost; Leon Stevener had one acre in cotton, total production showed 1,400 pounds seed cotton, or $83.22 returns above cost; Robert Kindt had three acres in cotton which produced three bales averaging 530 pounds. Cotton, unsold, was valued at $254.40, less expenses of production, fertilizing, etc., of $53.25, showed returns of $201.15 above cost.

Robert's record in club work this year is outstanding, his production of cotton on hill land showing more than four times the average yield for Brazos county. But this is, perhaps, the least of Robert's returns from club work. He won a trip to the Short Course, a liberal education in itself, and now he comes back from the educational encampment at the Dallas Fair filled with enthusiasm for greater club achievements in the future, and duly appreciative to those who have helped kindle the fires of ambition in his young life.

DOCTORS TO MEET

(By Associated Press) BEAUMONT, Oct. 16.—Two hundred physicians of Southwest Texas will convene here April 10, 11 and 12.

Beaumont was selected as the next meeting place for the South Texas Medical Association at the last session in Houston.

An Unpleasant Subject

All of the functions of life are not pleasant to consider. Perhaps this is why some mothers refuse to think that such symptoms as restlessness, loss of flesh, lack of appetite or itching nose and fingers in their children, can be caused by round or pin worms. Many mothers have proven, however, that a few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge, that sure and harmless worm expellant, will make these symptoms disappear. You can get White's Cream Vermifuge for 35 cents per bottle from Nathan & Vick.

BRAZOS GIRL WINS FIRST AT THE FAIR

NEW SCHOOL BUILDING ALSO IS DISCUSSED AT C. C. MEETING

Miss Alma Kindt, of King's Highway, Brazos county club girl, won first prize on poultry at the Dallas Fair. Miss Kindt was one of the five club girl winners who is attending the fair this week and was sent by the Bryan Chamber of Commerce. This report was made by W. S. Howell, chairman of the agricultural committee today at a meeting of the Bryan and Brazos County Chamber of Commerce.

Secretary S. E. Eberstadt reported a new member, South Texas Coaches. He also reported 36 advertising and soliciting propositions refused endorsement by the soliciting committee.

A. M. Waldrop, chairman of the trade extension committee, reported that the campaign put on by this committee in newspapers had proved very effective. Mr. Waldrop also discussed the new school building, which was voted a short time ago, and passed around a drawing submitted by a Dallas architect. He said that the site for the building had not been decided upon, and declared the school board will appreciate any suggestions from any citizens.

George A. Adams, chairman of the fire prevention committee, discussed penalties, and said that Bryan had enjoyed a good fire record up until the cotton warehouse fire. He said this fire would interfere with the reduction of our key rate.

Superintendent H. L. Durham addressed the meeting, and stated that he was very anxious for the location of the new building to be decided upon in order that the work could start and the building be ready for next year. Mr. Durham further reported that from the fifth grade up themes are being written on fire prevention week. He said he was opposed to cash prizes being given to the children, but rather he would prefer to see a medal awarded.

N. B. Allen reported that the Allen Academy and its band had been asked to put on a program for the Houston Advertising League this week, but had to decline the invitation. He said he would like to see the Bryan Chamber of Commerce put on a program.

W. L. Leverkahn addressed the meeting on vocational agriculture at the high school, and explained some of the projects members of his class are taking on.

D. L. Wilson reported on matters pertaining to Highway No. 6, which developed a general discussion of roads, bonds, etc. The following were present: N. B. Allen, George A. Adams, Wilson Bradley, J. N. Dulaney, Tyler Haswell, J. Webb Howell, W. S. Howell, John M. Lawrence, J. Bryan Miller, Oak McKenzie, Mrs. Lee J. Rountree, D. L. Wilson, and A. M. Waldrop.

Club Notes and Farm News by County Agent C. L. Beason and Home Demonstration Agent Lucy Givens

Food Demonstration

Miss Lola Blair, Food Specialist of the Extension Service staff, will give a food and health demonstration at the Edge Women's Club the afternoon of October 24th. She will give another demonstration at the Reliance Women's Club the afternoon of the 25th. If a morning program can be arranged Miss Blair will also give a demonstration for the Kurten Women's Club. Miss Blair is an artist in food preparation and an authority on food and health. Each meeting will be a treat to which all club women are looking forward.

Health of Home Maker

The South Carolina Food and Nutrition Specialist reports in the Agricultural Leaders Digest that the health of the home maker was the outstanding theme of the state short course for women. One hundred sixty eight women were given physical examinations. Out of this group "there were three excellent cases of good posture, two pair of perfect feet, two pair practically perfect, and about 80 percent of the others were in good condition. About 20 percent were far down the scale. Few of this smaller group had been in position to get expert advice along the lines of nutrition, medical care, or proper health habits until recently." All wanted to know their defects and were anxious students in corrective exercises and health habits. Their regret seemed to be voiced in an exclamation which was heard many times during the course: "Oh, if I had only known these things sooner!" All now have the chance to know how to build health and keep healthy by practicing proper food and health habits. "These things" are being taught in our schools, by health nurses and through magazines and newspapers. Food and health is a definite part of the yearly 4-H program. People owe it to themselves and to posterity to avail themselves of every opportunity to learn "these things."

What Milk Does

The results of nutrition or food and health work in an Ohio county is shown by a youngster's idea of what milk had done for him. He said: "Do you see these pants? Well, they used to be too long for me and now just look where they are. That's because mother makes me drink four glasses of milk every day."

Students Interested

Quite a number of 4-H club boys are in Bryan High this year taking an active interest in vocational agriculture. In the past, it has been the testimony that club work kindled the fires of ambition to greater achievement in life. George Holland, a former Brazos county club boy, but now secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Atlanta, Texas, says that it was the club work which inspired him to climb higher in life.

Three Given Death In Syrian Slaying Final

BEIRUT, Syria, Oct. 16.—Three members of a band charged with the murder of Kalil Saleeby, Syrian artist, and his American wife last July, were found guilty and sentenced to death. A fourth must serve a life sentence and a fifth a sentence of 15 years.

Local Officers Rival Zeppelin

The Graf Zeppelin may be a champion at sailing over salt water but the Brazos county peace officers are champions at driving through dust at a merry clip. Deputy Sheriff Lon Baker, Chief W. S. Martin, and Constable Horace Reed left Bryan early Monday morning for Ardmore, Okla., to take over Jack Martin, alias Frank Gipson, charged with stealing a Dodge Victory Six from the Hall-Sell Motor Co.

The officers also stopped by Waco and picked up Frank Crossland, charged with stealing Morgan Smith's car.

Ewing, who is connected with the publishing business in Chicago. P. V. was formerly connected with the Experiment Station of A. & M. College.

FORMER BRYAN MAN HERE

Dangerous Business

Our stomach and digestive systems are lined with membrane which is delicate, sensitive and easily injured. It is dangerous business, then, to use medicines containing harsh drugs, salts or minerals, when we are distressed. In addition to the possibility of injuring the linings of our digestive system, these medicines give only temporary relief and may prove habit forming. The safe way to relieve constipation is with Herbine, the cathartic that is made from herbs, and acts in the way nature intended. You can get Herbine at Roman & Vick.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE, A. M. OTHER NEWS NOTES FROM A. & M. COLLEGE

MOTHERS' CLUBS HOLDS MEET

(By MRS. F. L. THOMAS) The Executive Committee of the A. & M. Mothers' Clubs of Texas met Saturday morning at 9:30 in the Y. M. C. A. parlors. Mrs. F. L. Thomas, chairman, called the meeting to order and seven of the nine clubs answered to roll call. Bell County was not represented owing to the illness of Mrs. Knight, and a letter from the San Angelo Club, expressing their regret at not being able to be present was read. The clubs represented were: Brazos County, Dallas, Ft. Worth, Johnston County, Houston, San Antonio and Waco.

Mrs. W. L. Darley, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting, which were approved. Many important business matters of vital importance to the A. & M. Mothers' Clubs were discussed and voted upon. It was agreed that the Executive Committee would be an important factor in the work of the clubs, promoting a spirit of harmony and friendly cooperation in every way. It was decided that the Committee would hold two regular meetings a year, one in October and one at Mother's Day in May.

Mrs. E. A. Weyman of Cleburne was elected General Chairman of the Cook Book Committee. They agreed to cooperate in getting out an attractive cook book, the proceeds from the sale of which will go towards purchasing a pipe organ for Guion Hall.

It was voted to issue the "Aggie Mothers", the official bulletin of the A. & M. Mother's Clubs of Texas, three times a year, November, February and May. Mrs. W. L. Darley of San Antonio is editor of this little paper and will appreciate any news from the various clubs which will help to make it more interesting. There have only been two issues so far, but it has already proven to be a great help and inspiration to the clubs.

Mrs. A. A. Fischback of Dallas was elected General Chairman of the Pipe Organ Publicity Committee, her

HOOVER OWNS OIL LANDS

Charges that Herbert Hoover, Republican presidential candidate, owns vast areas of oil and ore bearing lands in Columbia and Mexico have been vigorously broadcasted by Henry Clay Hansbrough of North Dakota, formerly a Republican senator, and have been just as vigorously denied by Henry J. Allen of the Hoover headquarters. Speaking in Minneapolis, Hansbrough declared that he has "positive evidence" that Hoover, Standard Oil, the Mellon brothers and Albert B. Fall have rich concessions on the Magdalena River in Columbia.

The reply to these charges from the Republican headquarters was that Hoover had not at any time owned land or any interest in a concession in Columbia or Mexico, and were characterized as malicious libel. Hansbrough on hearing this reply cited trade reviews, oil maps and others sources to back up his assertions.

These charges have a bearing on the national campaign, in view of the fact that U. S. Marines are in Nicaragua now protecting American lives and interests, and there are those who believe that presidential ownership of foreign property, especially in Latin America, might be an influence in handling affairs of those countries. Furthermore, the average voter does not relish the idea of voting for candidates who are reputed to be wealthy and have extensive foreign investments.—Denton Record-Chronicle.

With the presidential election only three weeks away, interest in the race between Governor Alfred E. Smith and Herbert Hoover is being augmented. On the eve of the election it is evident that sentiment throughout the country is swinging toward Smith, and even republican leaders admit that the New York Governor has a chance for success. In Bryan and in Brazos county it is evident that sentiment for Smith has gained momentum, while many former Hoover supporters now admit that they have not decided for whom they will vote. Democrats who are dissatisfied with the candidacy of Governor Smith have been shown that they can receive no relief from voting for the republican nominee and for again giving the republican party control of the political conditions.

Six hundred Texas boys, students of vocational agriculture in various high schools of the state, have formed a Future Farmers of Texas Club. This organization should tend to stimulate interest among our boys to become farmers. At present you can ask any half dozen boys what vocation they expect to follow, and not more than one will answer "farming." We have an abundance of prospective lawyers, teachers, and editors, but a paucity of farmers. Under existing conditions now it will not be long until most of our farmers are under the management of the inefficient and uneducated. The finest in American life used to be found upon the farms; nature has always been considered closest to God. But soon we will have to look elsewhere for salt of the earth, for the best of the American people. This new organization should receive every possible bit of encouragement.

The successful flight of the huge dirigible, Graf Zeppelin, marks a new era in aviation. It signifies the beginning of carrying trans-oceanic passengers. The monster ship was in the air for approximately 116 hours and covered about 6,500 miles. With air mail service being extended daily, with trans-continental passenger service increasing and with trans-oceanic service progressing, we are fast becoming an air-thinking people.

William Edward Hickman, passed his last Sunday watching a baseball game between prison teams. He is to be electrocuted this week. While Hickman's crime was as atrocious as any could be, yet we doubt the wisdom of taking his life. Hickman was young, very young for a murderer, and grew from boyhood to young manhood without helpful home influences. He got started on the wrong track and then became a robber and finally a murderer. But all this it seems that the state could find a better way to punish a young criminal than by taking his life.

Agricultural Committee of the Snyder Chamber Commerce Has Model Poultry Farm to Help Others

(By NELL BENTLEY)

Today one may say with Will Rogers: "About all I know is just what I see in the papers," and yet be possessed with a liberal education. Watching our daily exchange for stories illustrating methods of establishing coordinated business relations between merchants of local trade centers and the farmers of the surrounding trade territory, we glean this information that the agricultural committee of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce has arranged for the erection of a model poultry house to serve as a demonstration to Scurry county farmers, and to encourage economic expansion in poultry production there.

Giles Garner, the man who is to carry out this model project made a trip to California to study methods used there, where whole sections have become famous for egg production and marketing. Snyder's Chamber of Commerce proposes to assist Garner in giving a practical demonstration of efficiency in the poultry business.

Snyder's agricultural committee recommends further that land owners borrow money if necessary to secure at least 150 high grade hens and milch cows enough to supply the farm tables with dairy products, instead of using all credit obtainable to plant a cotton crop, and urges that proper sheds, houses and feed be a part of each such business arrangement. They cite practical examples of where renters in their county have supplied all their wants from 2 cows and 150 hens, and had raised enough hogs to supply meat for another year.

Snyder's committee went on record as being ready to sponsor a movement to place enough dairy cows in that county to insure the installation of an up-to-date creamery as soon as possible.

The above information is all taken from the market page of one of the leading daily papers published in Texas. Turning the pages of yet another daily publication of equal standing and importance, we come upon an editorial which tells how McLennan county, (listed ten years ago as one of the prize cotton producing areas) outlines a new program centering on dairy farming. We quote the opening paragraphs:

"Any one can prove that the farmer who grows nothing but cotton is traveling the road to ruin. But, although the argument is convincing, its moving power is but small. Everybody accepts it, and nobody heeds it.

"Doubtless it was a sense of the futility of preaching against the folly of single-crop farming that prompted the Waco Chamber of Commerce, acting through its agricultural committee, to find some other method of propagating the diversification idea. At all events it set out two years ago 'to blast Central Texas farmers loose from the one-crop system.'

The results of such action is evident in the statements which follow, and which show that 1,500 farmers in McLennan county have signed up to keep at least 10 cows each, and upon this promise, a milk plant to provide stable and steady market for their dairy product is being projected and will be in operation in a few months.

A dairy herd improvement association has also been organized, through which dairy education and information may be disseminated, featuring selection, testing and breeding to improve the herds from a standpoint of production as well as for breeding purposes.

Poultry production is being endorsed by Waco's agricultural committee as a companion industry to dairying, and as a result, an egg breaking, poultry feeding and egg packing plant, representing an investment of $100,000, is being completed in Waco at this time.

Based on the theory that preaching against the one crop system is not enough to blast farmers' loss from it, McLennan County's Chamber of Commerce through its agricultural committee, is leading its farmers into other pursuits the following of which will compel them to plant a fair acreage to feed crops. This program does not call for a complete abandonment of cotton, which is and rightfully should be one of the wealth producers of southern agriculture.

It does combine dairying, poultry raising and cotton farming in a manner to provide a balanced farm program, thus creating economic independence for the Southern farmer and assuring consequent prosperity for Southern business interests.

Will Brazos county be next to join the procession of progress toward a new day for agriculture and business in Texas?

Over a Billion Deadly Germs in a Single Drop of Water

Germs are so small that there may be as many as one billion, seven hundred million of them in a drop of water. And just a few of these tiny germs, if they get into your blood through a cut in your skin, may make you so sick you will be in bed for weeks—may cause the loss of a limb through blood poisoning—may even infect you with that most dreadful and fatal of diseases, lockjaw.

Just because you can see no dirt in a cut does not mean that it is clean. You cannot see germs. The only safe and sane thing to do, is to thoroughly wash every cut, no matter how small, with Liquid Borozone, to kill the germs, and then dust it with Borozone Powder, to hasten the healing. Liquid Borozone costs 30 cents, 60 cents, $1.25 and $1.50; Borozone Powder, 30 cent and 60 cents, and can be had at Roman & Vick. (Adv.)

Gabe Cazell Here On Business Visit

Gabe Cazell of San Antonio stopped off in Bryan today enroute home from the Spanish-American War Veterans reunion in Havana, Cuba, where he went as a representative of the veterans of San Antonio. Mr. Cazell was very enthusiastic over the hospitality extended by the people of Cuba. More than 10,000 veterans attended the reunion. "And while there are 11,623 saloons in Havana, a city of 600,000 inhabitants, yet I saw but two drunken men. The behavior of the veterans was splendid," said Mr. Cazell. Mr. Cazell landed at New Orleans, La., Monday about noon and made the trip direct to Bryan. He will remain in Bryan but a short time to adjust his fire loss, when he returns to his home, one mile east of Bryan. Gabe Cazell, the singing Rotarian, has many friends here who are always happy to extend him the glad-hand of welcome.

Peanut Yield in Texas Declining

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 12.—Peanuts had not been an important commercial crop in Texas until the war-time demand for vegetable oils brought the crop into prominence, and in 1918 a peak of 7,117,000 bushels was reported, which declined in 1926 to 1,644,833 bushels. The principal demand at present is for shelled peanuts, which are used in the production of peanut butter, confections and for roasting.

Approved methods of planting, cultivating, harvesting and curing peanuts are discussed in Bulletin No. 331 of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. Experiments at Beeville and Lubbock indicate that close planting from three to six inches in the row, will produce larger yields of both forage and nuts than when a greater distance is given between plants in the row. The culture of peanuts is adapted to the sandy soils of the state, and fits well into a crop rotation. Peanuts produce forage comparable with the clovers as a feed for dairy cattle. Peanuts also make good feed for hogs, but when the nuts are not properly fed, either whole or as meal, they frequently produce a condition known as soft pork which is penalized by the packing trade.

There is practically no difference in the yields of peanuts, when planted in the hull, or where the hull is broken or cracked. Peanuts produce higher yields of forage when planted in thirty-six inch rows.

The Maespan peanut, a selection by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station from the Little Spanish variety, matures earlier, is more productive and uniform, and the kernels probably contain a higher percentage of oil than the common Spanish peanut.

For a copy of this bulletin address A. and M. College Experiment Station, College Station, Texas.

Mrs. Susie Fuller Dies Here Today After Illness

Mrs. Susie Fuller, aged 52 years, a native and life long resident of Brazos county, passed away at her home on South Bryan Avenue at an early hour this morning after a long and painful illness.

Five daughters of the deceased: Mrs. Sam Kauffman, Goose Creek; Mrs. Robt. Bond, Conroe; Mrs. Horace Spiller, Bay Town; Mrs. J. S. Cole, Houston, and Miss Dell Fuller of Bryan were all with her in her last hours, as were also Lon A. Bernard, Houston, her brother, and Mrs. S. E. Locke, Bryan, and Mrs. Frank Nichols of Zack, her sisters.

Rev. R. E. Day will conduct a brief service at the family home at 10 o'clock a. m. on Wednesday, and interment will be at the Brickham Cemetery about 14 miles out on the Wheelock road.

Susie Barnett Fuller was born in Brazos County, April, 1876. She was married to W. D. Fuller on December 20, 1894, and to this union six daughters were born five of whom survive the mother and one that died in infancy. Left a widow in 1907, to her fell the burden of rearing and educating her family alone. Her untiring devotion to this responsibility has been reflected in her entire life and in the character of her splendid daughters who so faithfully attended her in her last days of helplessness and suffering.

For many years Mrs. Fuller has been a devoted follower of the Baptist faith, and in addition to the immediate relatives who were with her at the end, scores of loving friends have administered to her in her illness and mourn today with those whose loss is irreparable and whose grief is inconsolable. The entire community bows its head in grief as the last tributes of respect are shown to this woman whose life has been an example of devotion to home, as she labored unselfishly and unceasingly for those whose love inspired her to true nobleness of purpose. As wife, mother, sister and friend, she has been a benediction to all who knew and loved her for her sterling character.

The farm population of Texas is now 2,199,173.

Kirby Pleads for Support for the "Demo" Nominee

John H. Kirby, state director of finance of the National Democratic committee, is calling for "a liberty donation" of one dollar from every Texas democrat who believes with him "that our government should be rescued from the selfish interests which have been exploiting it."

"Let us strive to place in power those who will breathe into the nostrils of America the principle of exact and equal justice toward all men," he declared. "And we can look only to the democratic party to do this."

Continuing Mr. Kirby said: "I need not appeal for support to any who excuse the leasing of Tea Pot Dome and the Elk Hill naval reserve to private exploiters, nor to any in sympathy with the power trust that bought a United States senatorship, nor to any who expect to continue profiting from the sale of federal patronage. I need not appeal to any who deny the full guarantees of our constitution to all citizens, nor to any who want the powers of government centralized at Washington and placed under the control of unsympathetic bureaus and commissions."

"But in this imperial state there are thousands struggling in the fields, and thousands doing the various essential tasks of life, who would scorn the sheltering wing of the republican privilege. It is to their interest that the party be placed in power which will secure equal opportunity for them and their sons and daughters, and it is their conception of government that it be dedicated to maintaining the inalienable right of man to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

"To all those standing for these principles, and for white supremacy in Texas, I make this appeal for a liberty donation, to aid our righteous cause. The victory will be for them."

C. M. Evans, Agricultural Agent of Texas-Pacific Railway, Sees Bright Future for Dairy Industry

Longview, Oct. 11.—Great opportunity for dairying in East Texas is seen by C. M. Evans, agricultural agent of the Texas and Pacific Railway Company, who gives some of his observations in an article in the October issue of "East Texas," official publication of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, which number is devoted to dairying.

"There is a considerable portion of the South that probably would today be known as the leading dairy production territory of the country, except for two reasons," begins Mr. Evans' article. "The first reason is, that this territory was for a good many years infested with the cattle fever tick, which not only killed many cattle, but prevented others from being profitable producers. The second reason is, that this territory was admirably suited for cotton production before the advent of the boll weevil, boll worm and cotton flea hopper, was a very profitable crop under the existing labor conditions. With the coming of cotton insect pests, cotton production is not nearly so desirable; with the eradication of the cattle fever tick, and the changing of labor conditions, the production of milk and butter-fat has become easier and much more profitable."

"And increased enthusiasm for the production of dairy products throughout the South within the next few years may reasonably be expected. This is especially true with the improvements of market facilities resulting from the establishment of powdered milk plants, condenseries, and cheese factories, which provide an unlimited market for all of the milk that can be produced at any time. The bugbear of dairy marketing has been the fear of a surplus. For the first time in history, there is now a market in the South for all the milk that can be produced, at a price ranging well above fifty cents a pound for butter-fat on a year-round average."

"That portion of the South known as East Texas, which is an area the size of several ordinary states, east of a line drawn from Sherman to Houston, through Dallas, is claimed by those who know the land to offer most all of the conditions required for economical dairy production. The market problem has been improved by the location of a complete condensary and powder plant at Sherman, and a modern milk plant at Marshall, in addition to the already ample markets for sour cream, sweet cream for ice cream making, and whole milk for retail distribution, located in the larger cities of the territory."

"Under the heading of 'natural facilities,' East Texans call attention to a mild climate and an abundance of shade and water. Attention is also called to the cheapness of construction materials used for building storage barns, shelters for cattle and residences. A high quality of brick and hollow tile are available in almost every locality, without the necessity of shipment, as is sand and gravel for concrete construction. Rough lumber for barn construction may be had at the small saw-mills at a cost of $15 per thousand. The average shelter shed and milk barn in East Texas may be constructed at a cost of $40 per cow sheltered.

"The mild climate, permitting of a year-round growing season, and a rainfall of thirty to forty inches scattered throughout the year, is conducive to a variety of native grasses and clovers and cultivated crops, and it delights the most particular demands and tastes for ample forage and balanced ration of concentrates.

"Native grasses forming the foundation of productive pastures are Bermuda grass, carpet grass, and Paspalum or Dallas grass. Winter-growing legumes used to supplement pastures are white clover, sweet clover, bur clover, hairy vetch and Australian and Canadian field peas. Added to these are the summer-growing pastures legume, lespedeza, and the cultivated legumes, soybeans, soybeans, velvet beans and alfalfa. A cultivated pasture crop of great popularity is sudan grass, while for silage and silage, a selection may be made from corn, red-top sorghum, feterita, hegria and Texas seeded ribbon-cane."

"The past twelve months has seen the greatest advance in dairy development in this section that has ever been recorded. Two great needs are outstanding; one is for more and better cattle, and the other is for more people with a knowledge of dairy production methods. The investment in labor and cattle in this territory will be the same as in other sections, but the total investment for land and buildings will not exceed more than half that for a similar layout in the so-called dairy states. Lands in many sections of East Texas may still be had for $15 to $20 per acre, and attention has already been called to the cheapness of construction materials."

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Lawrence returned from Old Independence Sunday. While there they visited the new producing oil well on the Geo. Grote farm 2 1/2 miles north west of Independence. The well began flowing at a depth of 1300 feet and is estimated to be producing about 150 barrels per day. The oil is being held in temporary reservoirs. The Lawrences say that all indications point to a real oil boom in the vicinity of one of the state's most historic centers—Old Independence.
